Please refer to the home page or the calendar on the course website for a full schedule of reading assignments, listening assignments, quizzes, written assignments, exams, and projects.

Late work will not be accepted without documentation stating an excuse to miss the work. (i.e doctors note, university activities, etc.)

Conduct Statement

Behavior that interferes with either the instructor’s ability to conduct the class or the ability of other students to benefit from the instruction will result in the instructor’s removing the disruptive student(s) from the class, either temporarily or permanently (instructor drop), and receive a final lower grade, up to an F. In addition, and depending on the nature of the behavior or conduct, the student(s) may be subject to further disciplinary actions as per MSU policies.

Academic Dishonesty Statement

Plagiarism is (1) the use of source material of other persons (either published or unpublished, including the Internet) without following the accepted techniques of giving credit or (2) the submission for credit of work not of the individuals to whom credit is given. If a student in the class is caught plagiarizing, appropriate disciplinary action will be taken. The Student Creed developed and adopted by the MSU Student Government reinforces the discouragement of plagiarism and other unethical behaviors. The first statement of the Creed reads, “As an MSU student, I pledge not to lie, cheat, steal, or help anyone else to do so.” Plagiarism is lying, cheating, and stealing.

The university policy and procedures for academic dishonesty are outlined in the current Student Handbook in Appendix E. No cheating, collusion, or plagiarism will be tolerated in this class. Any student engaging in an academic dishonesty act will be sanctioned appropriately.

Student Privacy Statement

EXAMPLE: Federal law prohibits the instructor from releasing information about students to parties outside the university without the signed consent of the student. Thus, in almost all cases the instructor will not discuss a student's academic progress or other matters with his/her parents without the proper release from students.

Campus Carry Statement

Senate Bill 11 passed by the 84th Texas Legislature allows licensed handgun holders to carry concealed handguns on campus, effective August 1, 2016. Areas excluded from concealed carry are appropriately marked, in accordance with state law. For more information regarding campus carry, please refer to the University's webpage at Campus Carry Rules/Policies.

Academic integrity is a personal choice to abide by the standards of intellectual honesty and responsibility. Because education is a shared effort to achieve learning through the exchange of ideas, students, faculty, and staff have the collective responsibility to build mutual trust and respect. Ethical behavior and independent thought are essential for the highest level of academic achievement, which then must be measured. Academic achievement includes scholarship, teaching, and learning, all of which are shared endeavors. Grades are a device used to quantify the successful accumulation of knowledge through learning. Adhering to the standards of academic integrity ensures grades are earned honestly. Academic integrity is the foundation upon which students, faculty, and staff build their educational and professional careers. directly from the AI tool and present it as your own without citation. For example, "ChatGPT was used to draft about 50 percent of this paper and to provide revision assistance. AI-produced content was edited for accuracy and style. Your use of AI tools must be properly documented and cited for academic integrity.

10 Things College Professors Want You To Know, Including How To Impress Them (And How To Annoy Them) by Raylyn Paquin BuzzFeed Contributor

1. It sounds obvious — but know how to write a good email. I cannot stress this enough.

1. Address your professor correctly.
2. Prove you've done some work with the problem.
3. Proofread.

2. And on that note, get yourself a professional-sounding email address.

3. Expect a reasonable turnaround time.

There is rarely a problem so big that it can't wait until Monday.

4. Do not ask for their phone number.

5. Don't call them when you're drunk.

6. Check. Your. Syllabus.

7. Remember that we are paid to answer your questions, so speak up when you need help.

Talk to us! Send the (good) email. (See #1!) Stay after class. And remember: It is literally our JOB to answer your questions, even over email. It's in our job description.

8. Talk to us – especially if you know there is going to be a problem ahead of time.

9. And if you're comfortable, talk to us about other things as well.

Take some time to come say hi to professors you're comfortable with.

10. Forget who you were in high school.

College is the best fresh start the world will give you. You are entering a world where there is no Prom Queen, there is no “outcasts area,” and you can fairly easily avoid the people who made high school terrible — even in a small town. The pressure that comes with being popular can go, the isolation of being different matters less.

Often, I see students come in with a lot of baggage from the social torture or expectation of high school, but college is your chance to figure out who you are away from the people you spent the last 4 to 13 years with. By not allowing that pressure to fuel you, you're going to be able to stick out and find the confidence to be you – and we love to see that! I get to see my students develop confidence in themselves and their abilities when they're really trying, and I will always be rooting for them.
