

Dr. Alexandra McClung

Professional Experience

Grapevine-Colleyville ISD - Learning Liaison

2023 - Present

Orchestrate campus-wide efforts to strengthen instructional practices and drive continuous improvement, collaborating with leaders to align curriculum and enhance student outcomes.

Midwestern State University - Adjunct Professor

2019 - Present

Deliver innovative undergraduate courses in kinesiology, education, technology, and speech, enhancing student engagement and preparing future leaders.

Midwestern State University - Director of Clinical Teaching and Innovation

2022 - 2023

Led clinical teaching operations, compliance, and partnerships with districts, strengthening educator preparation and supporting student success. Directed a network of 50+ faculty, supervisors, and district partners, implementing data-driven initiatives to strengthen educator preparation and campus outcomes.

Wichita Falls ISD - Teacher/Coach

2015 - 2022

Directed instructional and athletic initiatives to drive student success and teacher growth, overseeing curriculum enhancements and a state-level athletic program. Delivered professional development and mentorship to strengthen teaching practices and foster a collaborative, high-achieving school culture.

Education

Midwestern State University

Bachelor of Arts - Mass Communication - 2012

Master of Education - Sports Administration - 2019

Doctor of Education - Educational Leadership - 2024

Lamar University

Principal Certification - 2024

Publications

McClung, A. (2024). Teacher effectiveness and the educator route. [Doctoral dissertation, Midwestern State University]. ProQuest Dissertations & Theses Global.