Course Description

The language teaching community recognizes that language and culture are deeply interconnected. Consequently, this course is designed to introduce students to both the language and culture of German-speaking countries. To achieve this, the course will utilize a combination of prepared and authentic materials, focusing on theme-related vocabulary and grammatical structures.

The primary objective of this course is to develop students' proficiency in the German language through communication modes that mirror real-life interactions within the diverse cultures of the German-speaking world. Students will engage in a variety of in-class activities and homework assignments that emphasize listening, reading, writing, and speaking in German.

Through engaging in interpersonal, interpretive, and presentational communication in German, students will not only strengthen their language skills but also delve into the ideas, values, beliefs, and cultural nuances of German-speaking countries. This holistic approach will help students understand the interplay of these cultural elements and prepare them to be responsible global citizens.

Course Goals

German 2133 covers Chapters 8–10 of the web-based textbook along with additional resources, further developing the four major language skills (listening, speaking, reading, and writing) within an authentic cultural context. Continuing from GERM 1134/1234, the course expands your vocabulary (with an emphasis on intermediate-level structures), grammar knowledge, and cultural understanding, enabling you to engage in German conversations on a broad range of topics. These include personal information and family, travel, cultural practices, politics, significant historical events, as well as career aspirations and future goals. You will practice interpreting a variety of German texts and media, while deepening your understanding of cultural similarities and differences between German-speaking countries and your own. By the end of the course, students who attend regularly and complete all assignments and assessments with a minimum grade of B- should be able to:

- Provide basic information about themselves, their families, interests, preferences, and daily routines in German.
- Understand and participate in conversations on a variety of everyday topics (e.g., introductions, weather, shopping, cultural nuances, career choices, and future plans).
- Read and interpret edited texts on familiar themes, identify main ideas, and extract key information from authentic materials (e.g., menus, signs, train schedules, literary excerpts, poetry).
- Complete forms and compose short written texts such as letters, notes, postcards, and messages.
- Demonstrate knowledge of German-speaking countries, including geography, cultural customs, formal and informal address, and social etiquette.
- Improve conversational ability, practicing accurate pronunciation and greater fluency.
- Discuss career goals and future opportunities in German using appropriate vocabulary and grammar structures.
- Describe and compare aspects of German-speaking cultures with their own, using appropriate vocabulary and linguistic structures.
- Reflect on their own values, behaviors, and worldviews in relation to those of German speakers, particularly on socio-cultural topics presented in the course.

Career Readiness Competencies

By engaging in this course, you will work towards Career Readiness Competencies (from the National Association of Colleges and Employers) and being able to articulate how they relate to your language learning:

I. Communication:

Clearly and effectively exchange information, ideas, facts, and perspectives with persons inside and outside of an organization.

II. Critical thinking:

Identify and respond to needs based upon an understanding of situational context and logical analysis of relevant information.

III. Equity and Inclusion:

Demonstrate the awareness, attitude, knowledge, and skills required to equitably engage and include people from different local and global cultures. Engage in anti-racist practices that actively challenge the systems, structures, and policies of racism.

IV. Leadership:

Recognize and capitalize on personal and team strengths to achieve organizational goals.

V. Professionalism:

Knowing work environments differ greatly, understand and demonstrate effective work habits, and act in the interest of the larger community and workplace.

VI. Teamwork:

Build and maintain collaborative relationships to work effectively toward common goals, while appreciating diverse viewpoints and shared responsibilities.

VII. Technology:

Understand and leverage technologies ethically to enhance efficiencies, complete tasks, and accomplish goals.

Language Learning Strategies

Research shows that successful language learning involves these things.

Self-motivation:

Set some realistic, personal goals for yourself. What would you like to do with German after this semester? After a year? Maybe you'd like to travel to Berlin, read a German play or keep up with the German news to impress your future employer. Having concrete goals will keep you motivated and make your work more meaningful. This also means being resourceful, and finding the tools you need to succeed. There are as many resources as you are willing to locate.

Strategizing:

Now that you have goals, make a plan to meet them. Setting aside time for daily practice makes your work much more efficient and effective.

Taking risks and making mistakes:

Speak up in class! Do your homework without looking at your notes! Language learning is error driven. When you make mistakes and learn from them, the information is significantly more likely to stick.

Seeking feedback:

Being proactive and taking charge of your progress makes learning more meaningful. Take advantage of office hours and tutoring.

Practicing out loud:

Not just in class, but when you're doing homework. Or even when doing listening activities, listening to music, or watching a TV show--repeat the things you hear! Language is music and you can train your ear to it.

Practicing empathy:

Learning to speak a new language requires you, to some extent, to step outside of your own head and adopt new ways of speaking and thinking. You'll need to make sounds you've maybe never made before, and mimic strangers. You'll learn ways of describing the world and expressing yourself that are very different from what you are used to. It is common to feel awkward, or even dismissive or judgmental of these new experiences ("that sounds weird," "I feel weird saying that," etc.). To truly progress, you need to fully embrace these new ways of thinking and speaking. This is also a fundamental component of intercultural competency--understanding and being able to interact successfully with people of other cultures.

Identifying with target cultures:

This is another way of making your work meaningful to you. Invest yourself in learning about intersections between German and German speaking countries' cultures and your own interests. Are you a film buff? Wow is there a world of German cinema you should really know about. Discover German musicians, writers, artists, graphic novelists, etc. Read up on the turbulence of contemporary German politics. This is good for your broader education, and it will help you in your German language studies as well.

Textbook & Instructional Materials

No textbook purchase required. Excerpts, texts, and other learning resources are located on D2L. Chromebooks are not recommended as they will not work with D2L.

Study Hours and Tutoring Assistance

For each lesson you can expect approximately one and a half hours of homework/studying. Sometimes it is more, sometimes less. German tutoring is available at the Office of Tutoring and Academic Support Programs (TASP) located in the Muffet Library.

NOTE: As per The Code of Federal Regulations (CFR Title 34, Part 600.2), "a credit hour is an amount of work [...that] reasonably approximates not less than one hour of classroom or direct faculty instruction and a minimum of two hours of out of class student work each week for approximately fifteen weeks for one semester."

Academic Misconduct Policy & Procedures

Academic Dishonesty: Cheating, collusion, and plagiarism (the act of using source material of other persons, either published or unpublished, without following the accepted techniques of crediting, or the submission for credit of work not the individual's to whom credit is given). Additional guidelines on procedures in these matters may be found in the Office of Student Conduct.

Office of Student Conduct

Please know that using Google Translate or AI for homework assignments is considered plagiarism and therefore a violation of the honor code!

Academic Honesty

Plagiarism and cheating are serious offenses. Submitting writings, homework, presentations, etc., done by others, in part or wholly, without proper credit to the originators constitutes plagiarism. Additionally, receiving any unauthorized help in written and oral tests and assignments is considered cheating. Cheating and engaging in plagiarism will result in receiving no credit on the assignment.

Examples of cheating (Do NOT do these!)	Examples of appropriate resourcefulness (Do these things!)
Copying another student's work	Form study groups with classmates, help each other with brainstorming and editing
Using AI to write your work for you or to complete edits for you	Use AI to brainstorm ideas or even ask for general feedback, as long as it is not doing your work for you.
Using any form of online translator (e.g. Google Translate) is also a form of cheating. If you are NOT creating the language by yourself with what you are learning, it is not YOUR work.	Consult a dictionary for single words, expressions, and conjugations. If you are having difficulty putting a sentence together, simplify what you are trying to say!
Having a native speaker, tutor, or other student write your work for you	Seek feedback or guidance from native speakers, tutors, or other students. Be sure to mention that you did this in your assignments.

Midterm Progress Report

In order to help students, keep track of their progress toward course objectives, the instructor for this class will provide a Midterm Progress Report through each student's WebWorld account. Midterm grades will not be reported on the students' transcript; nor will they be calculated in the cumulative GPA. They simply give students an idea of where they stand at the midpoint of the semester. Students earning below a C at the midway point should meet with the instructor and/or take advantage of tutoring options.

Homework

You will be responsible for all material included in the course schedule (D2L) as well as any additional homework assignments given. Completing the assigned reading, activities, and grammar homework prior to every class will increase your comprehension of the material and leave more time to practice speaking German during class. This regular practice is designed to help prepare you for class and to increase your retention of the culture, vocabulary, and grammar we are covering.

You will be asked to complete the following types of homework assignments for German 2133 all located on D2L:

1. Lesen (Read): In preparation for class, you are responsible for reading assignments on D2L. These should be completed before class on the day, and you should bring any questions that you have about what you read/watched to class.
2. Lernen (Study): Study and take the practice quiz on quizlet. These practice quizzes on quizlet may be taken multiple times, unless noted otherwise.

3. Üben (Practice): Complete these practices on D2L or other online websites.
4. Schreiben (Writing): Complete assignments from D2L on a separate paper and submit the paper in class.
5. vhs-Lernportal: You will sign up for the free online vhs-Lernportal, where you will complete assigned activities.
6. Essays in class: You will be assigned short essays to write in class. Essays will be graded for both content and language/grammar.

You may be given other type of homework, such as a handout. You are expected to complete all assignments carefully. However, part of learning a language means making mistakes. If you complete your homework in a timely and conscientious manner you will receive a high homework grade for completion. If you do not understand the expectations for a specific assignment, it is your responsibility to ask for clarification before the due date.

Quizzes

There will be regular 5-7 min.-long quizzes, as announced as on D2L or in class, in which you will show how you have mastered the material of the previous day(s). Quizzes may not be made up unless students can provide appropriate documentation for their absences (medical or university duty).

Chapter (Kapitel) Exams

There will be three chapter tests. They will be administered on the dates announced. Tests will cover the material in individual chapters and will build upon previously discussed material. No unit tests will be made up without a valid medical excuse. You must e-mail me before the exam is administered, or at least right after the test. If you miss a test and are not properly excused, your grade is calculated as 0.

Presentation

You will need to give a short presentation (3-4 minutes) in German language. You will be creating PowerPoint to accompany your oral presentation. Topic selection will be discussed in class and/or announced on D2L. You will present your project during class at the end of the semester. You should choose a topic that really interests you and demonstrates that you have engaged with it intensely.

Extra Credit

No extra credit assignments are given to individuals that are not offered to the entire class. All extra credit assignments will be offered at the discretion of the instructor.

Comprehensive Final Exam

The comprehensive final exam covers all materials studied during the course. The exam consists of a listening comprehension, fill in the blanks, and/or true false portion and a written answer portion. The Final Exam contributes 15% to the final course grade. The Final Exam for this course is scheduled for Saturday, December 06, 2025, at 10:30 am-12:30pm. Location: TBA

Late Work

Late submissions will not be accepted unless due to emergency or university approved absence.

Make Up Work/Tests

Students may make up missed tests, quizzes, and essays only with a valid medical or university excuse within one week of the missed quiz, essay or test. If you know you will miss an exam due to an official university function, please make arrangements with your instructor prior to the absence and as soon as possible. If you are absent from an exam, you must present documented proof of illness or university activity to your instructor before an early or make-up exam will be scheduled.

Desire-to-Learn (D2L)

Extensive use of the MSU D2L program is a part of this course. Each student is expected to be familiar with this program as it provides a primary source of communication regarding assignments, examination materials, and general course information. You can log into D2L through the MSU Homepage. If you experience difficulties, please contact the technicians listed for the program or contact your instructor.

Attendance

Students are expected to attend all meetings of the classes in which they are enrolled. Although in general students are graded on intellectual effort and performance rather than attendance, absences may lower the student's grade where class attendance and class participation are deemed essential by the faculty member. In those classes where attendance is considered as part of the grade, the instructor should so inform students of the specifics in writing at the beginning of the semester in a syllabus or separate attendance policy statement. An instructor who has an attendance policy must keep records on a daily basis. The instructor must give the student a verbal or written warning prior to being dropped from the class. Instructor's records will stand as evidence of absences. A student with excessive absences may be dropped from a course by the instructor. Any individual faculty member or college has the authority to establish an attendance policy, providing the policy is in accordance with the General University Policies.

Participation

Participation is based upon your use of German in the face-to-face classroom. Don't worry about speaking perfect German. Accuracy will come with practice and repetition. I will record points for participation in the face-to-face classroom when you volunteer to answer questions, or you participate in conversations in German with a classmate. Speak as much German as possible and avoid using English.

Instructor Class Policies

Please be polite to your instructor and fellow students. Pay attention to the instructor and to your fellow students when they are speaking. Do not engage your classmates in conversation in English during class. No food or drinks, except for water, are allowed in our classrooms. expectations etc.

Email Policies

I will check email daily Monday through Friday and will make every effort to answer you within 24 hours. On the weekend, however, I might not be able to answer as quickly. Please make sure that you adhere to common rules of courtesy such as addressing me by name/title (Dr. Gagum), proofing spelling, and signing your name at the end of the email.

Name/ Pronoun Policy

Learning a foreign language requires an interactive classroom environment. Therefore, it is important that we strive to make the classroom a respectful and inclusive place. If you feel comfortable doing so, you are encouraged to let me know during the first week of class what name you prefer to be called and if you prefer the use of masculine, feminine, or gender neutral pronouns. These preferences can be applied just to your interactions with me or to all of your in-class interactions with your peers.

Change of Schedule

A student dropping a course (but not withdrawing from the University) within the first 12 class days of a regular semester or the first four class days of a summer semester is eligible for a 100% refund of applicable tuition and fees. Dates are published in the Schedule of Classes each semester.

Refund and Repayment Policy

A student who withdraws or is administratively withdrawn from Midwestern State University (MSU) may be eligible to receive a refund for all or a portion of the tuition, fees and room/board charges that were paid to MSU for the semester. HOWEVER, if the student received financial aid (federal/state/institutional grants, loans and/or scholarships), all or a portion of the refund may be returned to the financial aid programs. As described below, two formulas (federal and state) exist in determining the amount of the refund. (Examples of each refund calculation will be made available upon request).

Services for Students with Disabilities

In accordance with Section 504 of the Federal Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, Northwestern State University endeavors to make reasonable accommodations to ensure equal opportunity for qualified persons with disabilities to participate in all educational, social, and recreational programs and activities.
