Course Description

An introductory course that teaches the student how to make their voice sound more powerful, how to use vocal technique to expand their range and expression, and how to become more confident in vocal performances. This course is a fantastic starting point for any student wanting to make the most of their voice.

This performance-based course bridges the worlds of applied voice, ensemble studio, and acting. Students will strengthen their vocal technique while developing the skills to interpret, stage, and perform songs authentically as singing actors. Emphasis will be placed on connecting music, text, and character; preparing a balanced repertoire portfolio across eras of the musical theatre canon; and cultivating collaborative skills through peer feedback and ensemble work. Students will also learn how to prepare songs through deliberate and consistent practice methods, developing habits that support both technical mastery and expressive artistry. The course culminates in solo performances, scene work, and the opportunity to participate in a community-based cabaret alongside the Musical Theatre Acting class (THEA 4233).

Course Objectives

Conduct Statement

Behavior that interferes with either the instructor's ability to conduct the class or the ability of other students to benefit from the instruction will result in the instructor's removing the disruptive student(s) from the class, either temporarily or permanently (instructor drop), and receive a final lower grade, up to an F. In addition, and depending on the nature of the behavior or conduct, the student(s) may be subject to further disciplinary actions as per MSU policies.

Academic Misconduct Policy & Procedures

The university policy and procedures for academic dishonesty are outlined in the current Student Handbook in Appendix E. No cheating, collusion, or plagiarism will be tolerated in this class. Any student engaging in an academic dishonesty act will be sanctioned appropriately.

AI Policy

The MSU Student Handbook covers Academic Honesty under University Policies and Procedures. Academic dishonesty is defined as cheating, collusion, and plagiarism.

- Cheating is (1) the use of any unauthorized assistance, (2) dependence upon the aid of sources beyond those authorized by the instructor, or (3) acquisition, without permission, of tests or other academic material.

- Plagiarism is the use of another person's published or unpublished work without full and clear acknowledgment.

Use of AI to assist in the completion of assignment will not be allowed or tolerated in this course.

Student Privacy Statement

Federal law prohibits the instructor from releasing information about students to parties outside the university without the signed consent of the student. Thus, in almost all cases the instructor will not discuss a student's academic progress or other matters with his/her parents without the proper release from students.

Title IX Statement

Obligation to Report Sex Discrimination under State and Federal Law

Midwestern State University is committed to providing and strengthening an educational, working, and living environment where students, faculty, staff, and visitors are free from sex discrimination of any kind. State and federal law require University employees to report sex discrimination and sexual misconduct to the University's Office of Title IX. As a faculty member, I am required to report to the Title IX Coordinator any allegations, personally observed behavior, or other direct or indirect knowledge of conduct that reasonably may constitute sex discrimination or sexual misconduct, which includes sexual assault, sexual harassment, dating violence, or stalking, involving a student or employee. After a report is made, the office of Title IX will reach out to the affected student or employee in an effort to connect such person(s) with resources and options in addressing the allegations made in the report. You are also encouraged to report any incidents to the office of Title IX. You may do so by contacting:

Pregnant and Parenting Students

To support the academic success of pregnant and parenting students and students with pregnancy related conditions, the University offers reasonable modifications based on the student's particular needs. Any student who is pregnant or parenting a child up to age 18 or has conditions related to pregnancy, may contact MSU's designated Pregnancy and Parenting Liaison to discuss support available through the University. The Liaison can be reached by emailing ruby.garrett@msutexas.edu or calling 940-397-4500. Should a student communicate with me that they are pregnant or have a pregnancy related condition or may need additional resources related to pregnancy or parenting, I will communicate that student's information to the Title IX Coordinator, who will work with the student and others, as needed, to ensure equal access to the University's education program or activity.

A pregnant student, a parenting student, or a student with pregnancy related conditions may be provided with supportive measures, based on the student's individualized needs, analogous to those provided to a student with a temporary medical condition, and provided such supportive measures do not fundamentally alter the nature of an education program or activity. Such supportive measures may include, but are not limited to:

For pregnant students:

- (1) Providing breaks during class to express breast milk, breastfeed, or attend to health needs associated with pregnancy or related conditions, including eating, drinking, or using the restroom;
- (2) Excusing intermittent absences to attend medical appointments;
- (3) Providing access to online or homebound education, including the providing of access to instructional materials and video recordings of lectures (to the extent such materials, recordings are made available to any student with an excused absence);
- (4) Facilitating changes in schedule or course sequence, including extensions of time for coursework and rescheduling of tests and examinations and/or providing opportunity to make up missed assignments/assessments (such time extensions shall be applied in the same manner as the University grants and provides ADA/504 accommodations for additional time);
- (5) Allowing a student to sit or stand, or carry or keep water nearby;
- (6) Offering counseling;
- (7) Facilitating changes in physical space or supplies (for example, access to a larger desk or a footrest);

- (8) Allowing the student to maintain a safe distance from substances, areas, and activities known to be hazardous to pregnant individuals or unborn children;
- (9) Providing elevator access;
- (10) Facilitating a voluntary leave of absence from the University if the student is in good academic standing at the time the student takes a leave of absence, and facilitating a return to the student's degree or certificate program without being required to reapply for admission if the student remains in good academic standing; or
- (11) Making other necessary changes to policies, practices, or procedures.

For Parenting Students:

- (1) Facilitating priority registration to the extent the University provides early registration for any other group of students; or
- (2) Facilitating a voluntary leave of absence from the University if the student is in good academic standing at the time the student takes a leave of absence, and facilitating a return to the student's degree or certificate program without being required to reapply for admission.

Grading

Grades will be comprised of class participation (20%), Performance 1 (15%), Performance 2 (15%), Scene Performance (15%), practice log/journal (15%), repertoire book completion (10%), and a final reflective paper (10%). The student is allowed two absences per semester. Three late arrivals equal one absence. Any additional absences will result in a 10% reduction from the final grade. 90% or above=A, 80% or above =B, 70% or above=C, 60% or above=D and 59% or below=F.

Table 1: Percentages allocated to each assignment

Assignments	Percentage
Class Participation	20%
Performance #1	15%
Performance #2	15%
Performance #3	15%
Practice Log/Journal	15%
Repertoire Book Completion	10%
Final Reflective Paper	10%
Total Percentage	100%

Table 2: Total percentage for final grade.

Grade	Percentage
A	90% or above
B	80%-89%
C	70%-79%
D	60%-69%
F	Less than 60%

Performances

Three times during the semester, you will present prepared performances for the class. These are not intended to demonstrate perfection, but rather your growth through preparation, practice, and application of class concepts. Each performance gives you the opportunity to explore vocal technique, strengthen your ability to connect music and text, and gain experience presenting your work in front of an audience.

Performances will be evaluated on preparation, vocal technique, acting integration, and presentation. Written and verbal feedback will be provided after each performance, and a rubric will be shared in advance, so expectations are clear. Together, these performances will count as 45% of your final grade.

Practice Log & Journal

Throughout the semester, you will keep a practice log or journal to track your work outside of class. This log is not about the number of hours spent but about consistency, reflection, and deliberate practice. Each entry should include the date, the material you worked on, and short notes on your progress, challenges, or discoveries. The goal of this journal is to help you develop effective practice habits and encourage self-awareness in your growth as a singer-actor.

Check-ins will take place three times during the semester, and your complete journal will be submitted on the last class day. Blank journaling pages will be provided for you to use, though you may also keep your entries digitally if preferred. The practice log will count as 15% of your final grade.

Repertoire Book

By the end of the semester, you will assemble a small repertoire book consisting of four contrasting songs drawn from different eras of the musical theatre canon, with the option of including one additional pop or classical piece if appropriate for your growth. The purpose of this assignment is not to master every piece to performance level, but to begin building a balanced collection of material that reflects your vocal and dramatic range.

Throughout the semester, you will receive coaching and guidance in selecting and preparing these pieces. Your final submission will confirm that all repertoire has been chosen, prepared to a working level, and documented in your book. The repertoire book will count as 10% of your final grade.

Reflective Paper

At the end of the semester, you will submit a reflective paper in place of a final exam. This paper should be a minimum of three pages, double-spaced, in 12-point font. The purpose of this assignment is to give you an opportunity to reflect on your growth as a singing actor over the course of the semester. You should discuss the challenges you faced, the practice habits you developed, the tools you found most useful, and the ways in which you connected music, text, and performance.

This paper is not about "getting it right" academically, but about articulating your process and growth honestly. A rubric will be provided in advance to guide your writing. The reflective paper will be due by the scheduled final exam period, and it will count as 10% of your final grade.

MSU Productions and Extra Credit

Attend the MSU plays and musicals this semester Cabaret and The Revolutionists - your ticket is free to both shows with your valid Midwestern Student ID. Seating may be limited for these productions, please ensure you reserve your tickets early. A written play commentary on one of these productions will add points to your lowest grade category.

Late Work

Late work will be accepted with a letter grade deduction for each day it is late.

Attendance

Students are expected to attend all meetings of the classes in which they are enrolled. A student with excessive absences may be dropped from a course by the instructor. The student is allowed two absences per semester. Three late arrivals will equal one absence. Any additional absences will result in a 10% reduction from the final grade.

Sickness Policy

Your health and the wellbeing of the class are priorities. If you have a fever, please remain home until it has broken. If you test positive for COVID-19, follow the recommended quarantine period; upon returning, mask-wearing is strongly recommended for several days, though not required. For serious or ongoing medical conditions, seek medical care and provide documentation so that I can best support your learning experience.

Weather Policy

Instructor Class Policies

Course Requirements

- Participation: Active participation is expected in all group lessons, individual coaching sessions, and performance classes. Your consistent engagement is essential for both your personal growth and the collaborative nature of this course. Students are expected to contribute as performers, engaged listeners, and supportive peers.
- Preparation and Practice: Students are expected to come to class with all assigned material prepared and memorized by the designated performance dates. Regular rehearsal and deliberate practice outside of class are necessary to support your in-class work. You will keep a practice log/journal to track this preparation and reflect on your growth throughout the semester.
- Performances and Repertoire: Each student will present two prepared performances during the semester and one collaborative scene performance. In addition, all students will complete a repertoire book consisting of four contrasting songs, with the option of including an additional pop or classical piece. Performances and repertoire selections are intended to demonstrate preparation and growth, not perfection.
- Final Reflection: In place of a written exam, students will submit a reflective paper (minimum three pages) during the final exam period. This paper will allow you to articulate your process and growth as a singing actor, supported by class experiences and practice habits.

General Notes

This class is an opportunity to step away from the outside world and fully engage in the study and practice of singing for the stage. Devices may be used for notetaking, storing music, keeping practice logs or journals, and for use during lessons as directed. Please refrain from texting, browsing, or social media during class. Being fully present allows you to connect with your peers, the repertoire, and the work we are creating together.

Students should wear comfortable clothing and footwear suitable for movement, rehearsal, and performance work. On days when you are performing, dress in a way that supports your presentation while still allowing for freedom of movement and breath.

No gum or food is permitted in class. Please always bring water to drink.

Change of Schedule

A student dropping a course (but not withdrawing from the University) within the first 12 class days of a regular semester or the first four class days of a summer semester is eligible for a 100% refund of applicable tuition and fees. Dates are published in the Schedule of Classes each semester.

Refund and Repayment Policy

A student who withdraws or is administratively withdrawn from Midwestern State University (MSU) may be eligible to receive a refund for all or a portion of the tuition, fees and room/board charges that were paid to MSU for the semester. HOWEVER, if the student received financial aid (federal/state/institutional grants, loans and/or scholarships), all or a portion of the refund may be returned to the financial aid programs. As described below, two formulas (federal and state) exists in determining the amount of the refund. (Examples of each refund calculation will be made available upon request).

Services for Students with Disabilities

In accordance with Section 504 of the Federal Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, Midwestern State University endeavors to make reasonable accommodations to ensure equal opportunity for qualified persons with disabilities to participate in all educational, social, and recreational programs and activities.
