Course Description

A course designed to increase the variety and depth of the student's exposure to music and to enhance understanding and enjoyment of music as an art.

Textbook & Instructional Materials

The required materials for this course are contained in an online learning platform called Connect 4 Education (C4E). The text we will be using is OnMusic Appreciation 4th Edition. Below is a link for information on how to purchase access to the online platform: Online Platform Access Instructions. Please let me know if you have any trouble accessing the learning platform as the information contained will be necessary for completion of most assignments in the course starting on day one.

Daily access to Desire2Learn (D2L) is also required for this course. Some assignments will be submitted through D2L while some will be completed through C4E. Please check the syllabus before submitting assignments so that I can locate them easily for grading.

Academic Misconduct Policy & Procedures

Academic Dishonesty: Cheating, collusion, and plagiarism (the act of using source material of other persons, either published or unpublished, without following the accepted techniques of crediting, or the submission for credit of work, not the individual to whom credit is given). Additional guidelines on procedures in these matters may be found in the Office of Student Conduct.

Office of Student Conduct

In this course, the use of generative AI tools (such as Chat GPT) is not permitted. If the professor of this course suspects that an assignment contains AI-generated or plagiarized content, the student will be informed by email and have 5 days to schedule an online office hour via Zoom to discuss the content. If the student fails to respond, no credit will be given for the assignment. Two or more zeros issued for suspected academic dishonesty will result in the automatic failure of this course.

Homework

All assignments are due at 11:59pm on the Sunday of the week they are listed in the schedule below. All assignments can be completed and submitted early.

Musical Background Introduction – 0% of final grade

For this assignment, you will write a 100-150 words long post detailing your musical background, current musical interests and hopes for this course. This assignment is not graded but is required. You will not receive credit for any other assignments until this is submitted.

Start your post by stating your name and major here at MSU (or your high school if you are taking this as a dual credit course). After this brief intro, please freely talk about the following three topics. I have provided a sampling of questions to help get you started.

1. Musical Background – Do you play an instrument or sing? Did you participate in any school music organizations? Do you write or produce music (acoustically or electronically)? Did your parents' musical influences have a strong effect on your musical background? Do you have any involvement in music with a church or community organization?
2. Musical Interests – What are your favorite styles or genres of music? What are some of your favorite bands, artists or composers? What styles of music have you not yet discovered the value of?
3. Hopes for this course – What do you hope to gain from this course? What are you excited to learn more about?

Optional Assignments – 0% of final grade

These are to be read, listened to and studied. These assignments are not part of your grade, but will be necessary for many, if not all, of the assessments, discussion assignments and the midterm exam. Notes should be taken to aid in the completion of the assessments. All the Optional Assignments are located on the Connect 4 Education platform.

Assessments (Classes 1-20, 22-28) – 20% of final grade

All assessments are completed within the C4E website. You have one attempt at each quiz. Use the notes you took when reading through the Class Assignments within each section. Assessments must be submitted by 11:59pm on the Sunday of the week they are listed on the schedule in the syllabus. Most assessments have 10 questions (some have less) and a 20-minute time limit. Two attempts allowed. NO LATE WORK.

Discussion Assignments – 30% of final grade

As the largest portion of your grade in this course, time and care should be taken with each of the six Discussion Assignments. The specifics of each assignment are located on D2L. Click on the "Communication" tab at the top of the course page and select "Discussions." There you will find the "Discussion Assignments" forum with topics dedicated to each of the assignments. For Assignments 1-3 and 5, please submit your responses as new threads under the topic designated for each assignment. For Assignments 4 and 6, you will respond to your classmates' previously posted threads in the topics for Discussions 3 and 5.

Each response should be at least 300 words in length. This typically equals about 20 sentences or 3-4 paragraphs. Your responses will be graded using the rubric below.

Listening Assignments – 20% of final grade

Two listening assignments are to be completed toward the end of the course. For each of the assignments, you will choose a piece of music to study and write about. I am open to any genre or style of music that you can find from J. S. Bach, Charlie Parker, or Indonesian Gamelan music to Elvis Presley, The Rolling Stones, J Dilla, or Taylor Swift. The bulk of your writing will detail how the composers, performers, producers, lyricists and engineers use each of the seven organizing elements of music (rhythm, tempo, meter, melody, harmony, texture and form) outlined in Section 3 of the text.

Although the music you select is completely up to you, I would consider a few things before making your selections. First, does the piece you select utilize each of the seven elements with enough depth that will allow you to write meaningfully about them. Different pieces of music will emphasize different elements with different weights. Whether each element is used significantly in the piece you choose or not, think about what the composer is trying to convey. For example, a lack of harmony could purposefully help the composer evoke a certain feeling or emotion.

Second, I don't expect you to detail all the intricacies of each of your chosen pieces like a professional musicologist. That being said, I do expect you to use some of the vocabulary that you have encountered in the text throughout the duration of this course.

And third, choose two pieces of music that have significant differences. I do not want to see pieces by the same artist or even in the same genre. One thing you can get from this course (if you are open to it) is a broadening of your musical umbrella. Try to find music that you haven't discovered yet, and I bet you will find it is easier and more exciting to study and write about than a piece you have heard dozens of times.

Below are the elements to include in your writing:

- General Information (name of selected work, people who worked on the piece, year composed or recorded, link to a performance, background information)
- Details about the usage of the elements of music (rhythm, tempo, meter, melody, harmony, texture and form)
- Conclusion about how these musical elements combine to create a meaningful piece of music

Lastly, I understand that some of this information can be found with a quick Google search. That is fine for the general information section of the assignment. Once you begin discussing how the elements of music are used in the piece, your own thoughts should dominate your writing. Explicit plagiarism will be disciplined as stated in the MSU Texas Student Code of Conduct.

To get started with this assignment, log into D2L, click "Assessments" then "Assignments." Here you will find links for each of the two Listening Assignments. Within each assignment I have attached a template in .pdf, .docx and .pages file formats. Download the file type that works best for you and add your comments about the work you selected in the blank spaces of the template. Don't delete any of the prompts. They are there to guide you through the assignment. The entire submission should total about 3 pages in length (single spaced) and will be graded with the rubric below.

Please consult the chart below when completing these assignments. 2 from Selections 1 to 4, 1 from Selections 5 and 6. You are more than welcome to complete more sections, and you will be graded based on the sections with higher scores in that case. Two attempts allowed. NO LATE WORK.

The midterm exam is due on Sunday, March 8th at 11:59pm. You will find the exam under Class 21 on the Connect 4 Education platform. Materials from the first 20 classes are covered on the exam so be sure to have your notes from all 20 lessons available. There are 80 questions with a 2-hour time limit. Two attempts allowed.

Final Exam – 0% of final grade

There is no final exam for this course. The midterm exam is the large content assessment with the listening assignments serving as the culmination of the course.

Extra Credit

By attending a concert of your choice, you can earn an extra credit (2% of the final grade), by May 10th. As for a proof of your attendance of your own choice, I would suggest a picture of a concert program with your student ID or writing down your name on it.

Late work will not receive a full grade. No late work accepted on C4E. As for writing assignments on D2L (Discussion Assignments and Listening Assignments), if work is late within a week, a late work penalty of 20%, and if work is late for a week or more, it will receive a grade of zero.

Each student is expected to be familiar with this program as it provides a primary source of communication regarding assignments, examination materials, and general course information. You can log into D2L through the MSU Homepage. If you experience difficulties, please contact the technicians listed for the program or contact your instructor.

Online Computer Requirements

Taking an online class requires you to have access to a computer (with Internet access) to complete and upload your assignments. It is your responsibility to have (or have access to) a working computer in this class. *Assignments and tests are due by the due date, and personal computer technical difficulties will not be considered a reason for the instructor to allow students extra time to submit assignments, tests, or discussion postings. Computers are available on campus in various areas of the buildings as well as the Academic Success Center. *Your computer being down is not an excuse for missing a deadline!! There are many places to access your class! Our online classes can be accessed from any computer in the world that is connected to the internet. Contact your instructor immediately upon having computer trouble. If you have technical difficulties in the course, there is also a student helpdesk available to you. Instructor Class Policies

Behavior that interferes with either the instructor's ability to conduct the class or the ability of other students to benefit from the instruction will result in the instructor removing the disruptive student(s) from the class, either temporarily or permanently (instructor drop), and assigning a final lower grade, up to and including an F. In addition, and depending on the nature of the behavior or conduct, the student(s) may be subject to further disciplinary actions as per MSU policies.

Change of Schedule

A student dropping a course (but not withdrawing from the University) within the first 12 class days of a regular semester or the first four class days of a summer semester is eligible for a 100% refund of applicable tuition and fees. Dates are published in the Schedule of Classes each semester.

Refund and Repayment Policy

A student who withdraws or is administratively withdrawn from Midwestern State University (MSU) may be eligible to receive a refund for all or a portion of the tuition, fees, and room/board charges that were paid to MSU for the semester. However, if the student received financial aid (federal/state/institutional grants, loans, and/or scholarships), all or a portion of the refund may be returned to the financial aid programs. As described below, two formulas (federal and state) exist in determining the amount of the refund. (Examples of each refund calculation will be made available upon request).

Services for Students with Disabilities

In accordance with Section 504 of the Federal Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, Midwestern State University endeavors to make reasonable accommodations to ensure equal opportunity for qualified persons with disabilities to participate in all educational, social, and recreational programs and activities. After notification of acceptance, students requiring accommodations should make an application for such assistance through Disability Support Services, located in the Student Wellness Center, (940) 397-4140. Current documentation of a disability will be required in order to provide appropriate services, and each request will be individually reviewed.
