Course Requirements

Initial paper (20 points): Students will write a three-page, APA style paper with three sources, a title page, and a reference section. This is due by the third week of class.

Outline via headings (10 points): Students will generate: (a) a title page with a running head, (b) an outline with appropriate APA levels of headings, and (c) a reference page (APA style). Under each heading, source identifiers will be written in. This will organize the paper for the writer and reader.

- a. Read the results and discussion of a minimum of 10 sources.
 - i. Read the literature review to become more informed of your topic and identify additional sources you may want. DO NOT cite the literature review.
- b. Identify each source by a number and each "finding" by a letter.
- c. Place the number, letter, and page number under the appropriate heading.

Library sources (10 points): Each person is responsible for turning in the following 5(or 6) sources:

- (a) Interlibrary loan article-peer reviewed
- (b) Internet retrieved article-peer reviewed
- (c) one book from the stacks-peer reviewed
- (d) one source from the "reference section" -peer reviewed
- (e) 1 non-peer reviewed source from a suitable website (e.i., .org, .edu, or .gov). Wikipedia does not count as a source in this class.
 1. Bonus 2 points. Find a "BAD" website source (e.g., "ma&paBBQribs&psychologicaltruths").

Editing for common errors (20 points for individual and group editing): First, students will use editing symbols to identify problems in each other's work. Students will turn in an edited paper and the editor will receive a grade. Editors must use a red pen. I will use a green pen. (the person writing the paper also gets a grade at this time). Second, students will bring thumb drive with paper on it. We will edit the paper in class. Attendance sheets will be signed and credit given for group participation.

Psychology Writing Lab: Throughout the semester we will work on peer edits in the writing lab. After the first final paper turn in, students will use both class periods to work on their papers, receive peer feedback, and have access to the instructor regarding edits.

Writing Notebook (10 points): Students will turn in their writing notebook (I prefer a very small 3 ring binder) one week before the paper is due. Writing notebooks contain handouts from class and journal entries about one's own personal writing. Journal topics include: forbidden word list, self-writing evaluations (e.g., too many passive sentences, writing in wrong tense, punctuation), and editing observations (e.g., work on 1-2-3, need to focus on APA headings).

Editing midterm (40 points): A finished paper will be handed out. Students must mark the paper for: (a) APA style, and (b) readability. Students should be able to evaluate the title page, headings, citations in the text, and the reference page. Poorly written sentences should be identified for correction.

Final paper (110 points): Students will turn in the paper two times for a grade. The corrected rough draft will be turned in after editing has been completed. This will allow for a pre-read by me. Editing symbols will be used and the student must identify the exact problem and correct it. Multiple "genuine" rewrites are possible. The paper shall have a title page, abstract, body (10 typed pages), and reference pages (minimum 10 references-no more than 2 from the internet; no text books). Do not use a paper in part or full from another course-this constitutes self-plagiarism (APA 7th ed., p. 21).

The final product will be turned in the last day before finals week and graded on: (a) APA style, (b) readability, and (c) quality of information.

220 points are possible and grade ranges are as follows:

A = 198-220

B = 176-197

C = 154-175

D = 132-153

F = 131 or lower

*All papers must be turned in electronically to TurnItIn.com through D2L. Go to Assessments: (a) choose Assignments, and (b) choose TurnItIn. You will upload your paper and can view a similarity rating. If green (under 25% or so), no worries. If yellow, possible rewrite. Check to see if your sources are artificially raising your percent (if yes, no worries). If orange, definitely rewrite!

Student Code of Conduct

MWSU's official policy in the University's Code of Student Conduct on page 52, states:

Instructor Drop: An instructor may drop a student any time during the semester for excessive absences, for consistently failing to meet class assignments, for an indifferent attitude, or for disruptive conduct. The instructor must give the student a verbal or written warning prior to dropping the student from the class. An instructor's drop of a student takes precedence over the student-initiated course drop of a later date. The instructor will assign a grade of either WF or F through the first 9 weeks of a long semester, the first 6 weeks of a 10-week summer term, or the 12th class day of a 4- or 5-week summer term consisting of 20 days. After these periods, the grade will be an F. The date the instructor drop form is received in the Office of the Registrar as the official drop date. A student dropped from a class by a faculty member for disruptive behavior has the right of appeal to the Student Conduct Committee through the Student Conduct office.

Midwestern State University Student Honor Creed

"As an MSU Student, I pledge not to lie, cheat, steal, or help anyone else do so."

As students at MSU, we recognize that any great society must be composed of empowered, responsible citizens. We also recognize universities play an important role in helping mold these responsible citizens. We believe students themselves play an important part in developing responsible citizenship by maintaining a community where integrity and honorable character are the norm, not the exception. Thus, We, the Students of Midwestern State University, resolve to uphold the honor of the University by affirming our commitment to complete academic honesty. We resolve not only to be honest but also to hold our peers accountable for complete honesty in all university matters.

We consider it dishonest to ask for, give, or receive help in examinations or quizzes, to use any unauthorized material in examinations, or to present, as one's own, work or ideas which are not entirely one's own. We recognize that any instructor has the right to expect that all student work is honest, original work. We accept and acknowledge that responsibility for lying, cheating, stealing, plagiarism, and other forms of academic dishonesty fundamentally rests within each individual student. We expect of ourselves academic integrity, personal professionalism, and ethical character. We appreciate steps taken by University officials to protect the honor of the University against any who would disgrace the MSU student body by violating the spirit of this creed.

Written and adopted by the 2002-2003 MSU Student Senate.

By enrolling in this course, the student expressly grants MSU a 'limited right' in all intellectual property created by the student for the purpose of this course. The 'limited right' shall include but shall not be limited to the right to reproduce the student's work product in order to verify originality and authenticity, and educational purposes.
