Course Description

General survey of American History from its European origins to 1865. Required of all baccalaureate students.

Why did Europeans colonize the Americas in the 1600s, patriots overthrow their mother country in the 1700s, and Americans fight a deadly war against one another in the 1800s? This course examines the history of colonial America and the United States to the end of the Civil War. The first third explores the effects of colonization, including the rise of race-based slavery, the displacement of Indigenous peoples, and the road to revolution. The second third considers how diverse Americans envisioned the meanings and consequences of independence. The final third examines the polarizing politics of slavery which led to the secession of eleven states. It took a deadly civil war to restore the Union, destroy slavery, and emancipate four million individuals. Throughout the semester, we will contemplate what it meant to be free—or unfree—at various moments in American history.

By the end of the semester, you should be able to:

- Synthesize historical material about colonial America, the American Revolution, the early republic, the antebellum era, and the era of the Civil War
- Develop an argument that draws on primary sources to answer a historical question
- Identify and evaluate the arguments of primary and secondary sources, paying close attention to language and context

- Communicate effectively by writing clear, well-supported exams and papers

THECB Required Course Objectives: This course fulfills a Texas core requirement for Critical Thinking, Communication, Personal Responsibility, and Social Responsibility. As such, the course will assess the following learning objectives:

- All four criteria are measured through a critical writing assignment, which may include one or more of the following: Substantial essay exam question; a critical and analytical book review; a research paper or project; a reading response paper; or other appropriate assignment as determined by the course professor.

Reading Assignments

You are expected to complete all assigned reading, which includes your textbook and primary sources. These should be read differently.

Read the textbook for major themes and content. Consider the context, causes, and consequences of the people and events it discusses.

Read the primary sources for perspective. Why is the author writing the source? What does it reveal about the time the author lived? How does it better help you—and historians—understand what people were thinking and doing in the past?

Primary Source Analyses

Primary Source Analyses (15%): Throughout the semester you will be required to turn in 6 one-to-two page primary source analyses. You will complete two PSAs prior to each of your exams. To earn extra credit, students must turn in both primary source analyses early. You will receive 1 extra credit point added to the multiple choice portion of your exam. See the schedule below.

PSA #1 must be turned in by Sunday, Sep. 6 (or by Aug. 30 for extra credit).
 PSA #2 must be turned in by Sunday, Sep. 20 (or by Sep. 13 for extra credit).
 PSA #3 must be turned in by Sunday, Oct. 11 (or by Oct. 4 for extra credit).
 PSA #4 must be turned in by Sunday, Oct. 25 (or by Oct. 18 for extra credit).
 PSA #5 must be turned in by Sunday, Nov. 15 (or by Nov. 8 for extra credit).
 PSA #6 must be turned in by Sunday, Nov. 29 (or by Nov. 22 for extra credit).

Your Primary Source Analysis should respond to one primary source in the American Yawp Reader (link on D2L, also available under “Primary Sources” at the end of each online chapter). These assignments are to be turned in via D2L during the week that the sources are assigned. An instruction sheet on how to complete these assignments is on D2L.

Quizzes

Syllabus Quiz (2%): You will take a syllabus quiz the first week of class. It covers the materials found on the syllabus. You are welcome to consult the syllabus as you take it. You may make a retake it as many times as you’d like. D2L will record your highest grade.

Reading Quizzes (15%): There will be 6 reading quizzes throughout the semester. They are timed (15 minutes) through D2L and consist of 10 multiple choice questions based on the textbook chapter. They are due by midnight on Sunday (but will be posted a week prior). A missed quiz will be recorded as a zero. Your lowest quiz grade will be dropped.

Weekly Participation

Weekly Participation (10%): There will be at least 13 opportunities to complete a participation activity. These will consist of worksheets, reflections, or activities to complete in class. You must be present to complete them. Think of these activities as your attendance grade. You must be present for 10 of these activities to earn a 100% in this category

Exams

Exams (58%): You will take 3 exams during the semester. Each exam will consist of multiple-choice questions and short essays. Before each exam you will receive a series of possible question themes that you should spend time researching/preparing. You will be required to answer the short essays in paragraph form. The best answers make arguments with specific evidence. More information about the exam will be circulated the week before the exam. These exams are in person.

Class Structure

Think about this class as consisting of three 5-week sections. Each section requires you to take two reading quizzes, submit two primary sources analyses, and take an exam.

Extra Credit

The only way to earn extra credit in this course is to submit your Primary Source Analyses early. See the due dates above (or D2L) for more information.

Late Work

I want you to succeed in this course, so I am willing to accept late work under certain conditions. Please meet with me to discuss this in person.

Study Hours and Tutoring Assistance

If you need help, please contact me, work with one of the history department graduate assistants, or visit the Office of Tutoring and Academic Support Programs on the first floor of Moffett Library. We're all willing and ready to help!

Moffett Library

Moffett Library provides resources and services to support student's studies and assignments, including books, peer-reviewed journals, databases, and multimedia materials accessible both on campus and remotely. The library offers media equipment checkout, reservable study rooms, and research assistance from librarians to help students effectively find, evaluate, and use information. Get started on this Moffett Library webpage to explore these resources and learn how to best utilize the library.

Academic Misconduct Policy & Procedures

Academic Dishonesty: Cheating, collusion, and plagiarism (the act of using source material of other persons, either published or unpublished, without following the accepted techniques of crediting, or the submission for credit of work not the individual's to whom credit is given). Additional guidelines on procedures in these matters may be found in the Office of Student Conduct.

For example, "cutting and pasting" from any internet source or poorly paraphrasing (i.e., changing a few words with the synonym function) without citing that source is plagiarism. Moreover, generating text via AI and citing it as your own is academic misconduct, and the instructor reserves the right to give that assignment an F. If you use Grammarly, do not let it rewrite sentences for you. That will register as AI.

Questions about Generative AI

When can I use Generative AI like ChatGPT in this course?

The use of Generative AI is allowed in this course for the following: brainstorming your ideas and checking grammar.

When must I avoid Generative AI like ChatGPT in this course?

The use of generative AI is not permitted for the following: Writing a draft of an assignment; and writing entire sentences, paragraphs, or papers to complete assignments.

Why can't I use Generative AI to write my papers?

Learning happens as we read, think, organize, summarize, respond, and engage. We don't want machines to do that for us.

Attendance

Students are expected to attend all meetings of the classes in which they are enrolled. One of your grades is based on being present in class for participation activities. If you are not present for at least 10 of those activities, your participation grade will suffer.

Online Computer Requirements

Taking an class requires you to have access to a computer (with Internet access) to complete and upload your assignments. It is your responsibility to have (or have access to) a working computer in this class. *Assignments and tests are due by the due date, and personal computer technical difficulties will not be considered reason for the instructor to allow students extra time to submit assignments, tests, or discussion postings. Computers are available on campus in various areas of the buildings as well as the Academic Success Center. *Your computer being down is not an excuse for missing a deadline!! There are many places to access your class! Our online classes can be accessed from any computer in the world which is connected to the internet. Contact your instructor immediately upon having computer trouble. If you have technical difficulties in the course, there is also a student helpdesk available to you.
