Email

As this is an online course, all notifications will occur via email, so you must check your email multiple times daily. I will be using the D2L email list to send notifications, which should go to your university email address. If it does not go to your university email address, you may forward emails from your D2L email to the university email via Account Settings -> Email -> Forwarding Options. All you need to do is type your email address in the appropriate box, make sure "Forward and mark read in the Inbox folder" is checked, and hit "Save and Close" at the bottom (big blue button).

Online Computer Requirements

Taking an online class requires you to have access to a computer (with Internet access) to complete and upload your assignments. It is your responsibility to have (or have access to) a working computer in this class. Assignments and tests are due by the due date, and personal computer technical difficulties will not be considered reason for the instructor to allow students extra time to submit assignments, tests, or discussion postings. Computers are available on campus in various areas of the buildings as well as the Academic Success Center. Your computer being down is not an excuse for missing a deadline!! There are many places to access your class. Our online classes can be accessed from any computer in the world that is connected to the internet. Contact your instructor immediately upon having computer trouble. If you have technical difficulties in the course, there is also a student helpdesk available to you. The college cannot work directly on student computers due to both liability and resource limitations however they are able to help you get connected to our online services. For help, log into D2L.

Desire-to-Learn (D2L)

Extensive use of the MSU D2L program is a part of this course. Each student is expected to be familiar with this program as it provides a primary source of communication regarding assignments, examination materials, and general course information. You can log into D2L through the MSU Homepage. If you experience difficulties, please contact the technicians listed for the program or contact your instructor.

Attendance

Because this is an online course, attendance will not be measured using a standard metric. Online meetings are mandatory, but unless we have a scheduled online meeting, you will not be required to "attend" a specific location at a specific time. Instead, attendance is measured by completing the exercises and assignments by their deadlines, proving your involvement with course content. On most class days, these exercises will be part of "modules" that will not require any more coursework than you'd perform during an in-person class. There are no excused absences since you can complete work at your own pace prior to its deadline (timed writing assignments are the exception for this rule). An "absence" is counted by not completing an online exercise by its deadline. Each absence will count against your attendance/participation grade, but you are allowed up to 4 "absences" without a reduction to your overall grade. After 4 "absences," each missed deadline will count as 5% against your overall grade. After 8 absences, you automatically fail the course.

Definitions

An exercise/discussion is an assignment that addresses a single set of tasks, such as would be completed on an average course day; these can include free writes, reading responses, quizzes, or other written tasks.

A module is a series of exercises and readings that comprise a themed unit of coursework, building to a major assignment. Each module is focused upon an essay or project that counts toward your grade (see grading scheme).

A major assignment is the culminating paper for each module, designed to demonstrate your understanding of the concepts and objectives of that module.

A timed writing is a major assignment that you must complete to pass the class, even though it may be given independent of modules.

Students earning below a C at the midway point should make an appointment with the instructor and consider visiting the Tutoring & Academic Support Programs Center.

All formal assignments are to be typed and outside sources documented according to MLA style (do not utilize citation machines. Citation machines only work if you know the citation well enough to enter all of the material correctly). Additionally, all formal papers must be uploaded into the appropriate D2L assignment. By enrolling in this class, the student expressly grants MSU a "limited right" in all intellectual property created by the student for the purpose of this course. The "limited right” shall include but shall not be limited to the right to reproduce the student’s work product in order to verify originality and authenticity, and for educational purposes.

Note: You may not submit a paper for a grade in this class that already has been (or will be) submitted for a grade in another course, unless you obtain the explicit written permission from me and the other instructor involved in advance.

Late work

Late assignments, defined as work not submitted by the designated date and time posted in the D2L Dropbox/Submission folder, will be accepted, but they will lose 10% of the final grade.

Additionally, no late work will be accepted more than 48 hours after the original deadline. If you miss a deadline for a week’s exercise or exercises, it receives an automatic zero (as well as counting as an absence). Email the professor if you know work will be late.

Missing work

You must complete all required drafts and final copies of the major assignments in order to receive a passing grade for the course. This applies even if the assignment is so late it receives a zero; you must still turn it in to pass the class.

Academic Dishonesty

Per the MSU Student Handbook:

“The term ‘cheating’ includes but is not limited to: (1) use of any unauthorized assistance in taking quizzes, tests, or examinations; (2) dependence upon the aid of sources beyond those authorized by the instructor in writing papers, preparing reports, solving problems, or carrying out other assignments; or (3) the acquisition without permissions, of tests or other academic material belonging to a member of the university, faculty, or staff.

The term “plagiarism” includes, but is not limited to, the use by paraphrase or direct quotation, of the published or unpublished work of another person without full and clear acknowledgement of the original author. It also includes the unacknowledged use of materials prepared by another person or agency engaged in the selling of term papers or other academic materials. All formal papers will run through the Turnitin for an originality report. At the very least, plagiarism will result in an F on the assignment; at worst, the consequence will be an F in the course. Offenders will be reported to the Chair of the Department of English, Humanities, and Philosophy. Please understand that students have the right to appeal an alleged incident of Academic Dishonesty. More information about this policy and appeal procedure can be found on page 55 of the Student Handbook <https://msutexas.edu/student-life/assets/files/handbook.pdf>
