TEXT: Constructions of Deviance: Social Power, Context, and Interaction, 8th edition, by Adler & Adler.

Additional readings that I will provide to you.

COURSE DESCRIPTIONS

What is deviance? Why do people engage in deviant behavior? Why do some people assume a deviant identity while others do not? How does deviance impact our society? How does deviance influence the behavior of groups and individuals? This class will explore answers to these questions as well as the relationship between deviance and formal systems of social control. The nature and function of deviance will be examined with particular reference to various sociological and theoretical perspectives on deviance.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

- Expose students to a variety of studies of deviant behavior (e.g. criminal behavior, sexual deviance etc.).
- Students should learn that there is often more involved in behavior defined and treated as being "deviant" than is readily apparent.
- Students should learn a variety of perspectives/point of views pertaining to the study of deviance.

- Students should learn the limitations of extrapolating from their own experiences and be able to articulate how the life experience of others may differ.
- Students should be able to critically assess the strengths and weaknesses of current sociological theories and research related to deviant behavior.
- To be able to critically evaluate institutional responses to deviance and control.

EXAMS AND GRADING:

You will have the potential to earn 300 points during this semester. That breaks down to what 3 exams would be worth if I were giving exams, but instead the following is the breakdown for how points will be earned:

32 points: attendance

50 points: Batman paper

15 points: Positive Deviance paper

15 points: Chapter Summary

190 points: Quizzes

The above totals 308 points (8 bonus points factored in).

From Tuesday, July 5th through Monday, August 1st, there are 16 class days. You earn 2 points for each class day that you are present. If you come in late, you do not earn a point. If you leave before I have concluded class, you do not earn a point. There are no exceptions to this. If you miss no class at all, I will add 4 bonus points to be averaged into your points earned at the end of the semester.

BATMAN PAPER: Analysis of Batman films. This is a paper due on August 4th, but I have to see a draft by August 1st. If you do not show me a draft on August 1st, you lose 5 points from the possible 50 to be earned.

POSITIVE DEVIANCE PAPER: This paper will consist of a paper using a sociological analysis of "Random Acts of Kindness." This is due July 12thth.

CHAPTER SUMMARY/reaction paper: You will choose a reading from your COD book to summarize, that we did not cover in class. I want your reaction to it also and tell me why you chose this reading as well. This is due by July 20th.

QUIZZES: You will be required to come to class having read the material for the day. I will give random quizzes to total 190 points. Sometimes the quizzes will be worth 10 points, but other times they may be worth as much as 25 or more.

A=270-300

B=240-269

C=210-239

D=180-209

F=Below 180
